

January News for the 3's Class!

Hello 3s Families!

I hope that your holidays were extra special, and you enjoyed time spent with your loved ones! My family ended our vacation with a fun trip to Disneyland. Even though my “kids” are all grown we revert back to being children when we are there. We love Disneyland!!

I have attached our January calendar. It feels strange to write 2025. We will look at many things this month about the winter season. Jan Brett is one of my favorite authors and I will enjoy reading The Mitten with them as well as lots of fun mittens activities.

On Friday the 17th we will have a Cozy Pajama and Cocoa Day at school! The children may wear their pajamas to school. This is purely optional, and I will make a decision about going outside for play time depending on the weather. Most likely we will have some play time in the center room.

We will observe Martin Luther King Jr. Day on Monday, January 20th and will not have school that day.

When we return on Friday the 24th we will look at all of the many feelings we have and then a week of tons of fun snow and ice – including some “ice fishing, painting with ice, and even a snowball fight in the center room! Start doing your snow dances now so we can have real snow outside. 😊

At the end of this month we will be having parent/ teacher conferences on Friday the 31st. This will be an opportunity for you and I to talk about how your little one is doing in preschool and things we have been learning. I will have a sign up outside our classroom towards the middle of the month. The kids will attend school as usual, and Ms. Sally will be teaching that day.

Please reach out if you have any questions or concerns.

Enjoy the rest of the vacation. I miss all of my little ones’ smiles and giggles. See you soon!

Sincerely,

Laura Parpart
