October 2026

Hello SBA Families!

Our September kick-off of Storybook Adventure was so much fun! We talked about what makes each of us happy and drew pictures about it in our Storybook Adventure Journals. Then we talked about sharing, and we all worked together to make ice cream to share at snack time.

This month we will be diving into four more great stories. Ask your child about the stories we read, and ask questions like, "Who was the story about?" or "What happened in the story?" If they can't remember, that's okay! That is what we are working toward. Remind them of the title and ask a question based on that. As an example, for the story Should I Share My Ice Cream? you could ask, "Who had the ice cream in the story?" You might like to try getting the same books we are reading from the library, and read them at home as well. Reading the story after our lesson may help spark memories of what was done in class so that your child can recall and retell their experiences to you.

This month, the children will be introduced to the parts of a story, work on story retelling and memory, work on picture-reading books with a "Book Buddy," work on fine motor skills necessary for writing, and much more. Please let us know if you have any questions. We are looking forward to another great month of fun and learning.

Thanks!
